2016 Financial Transparency Report

“

Whether helping with secondaries, interview prep, gauging when admissions are being sent out, moral support, or a host of other things, I can't imagine having done this without SDN.

Our Mission

Coastal Research Group (CRG) is a non-profit educational organization working to encourage improvements in community healthcare delivery through research, policy analysis, and educational conferences and workshops.

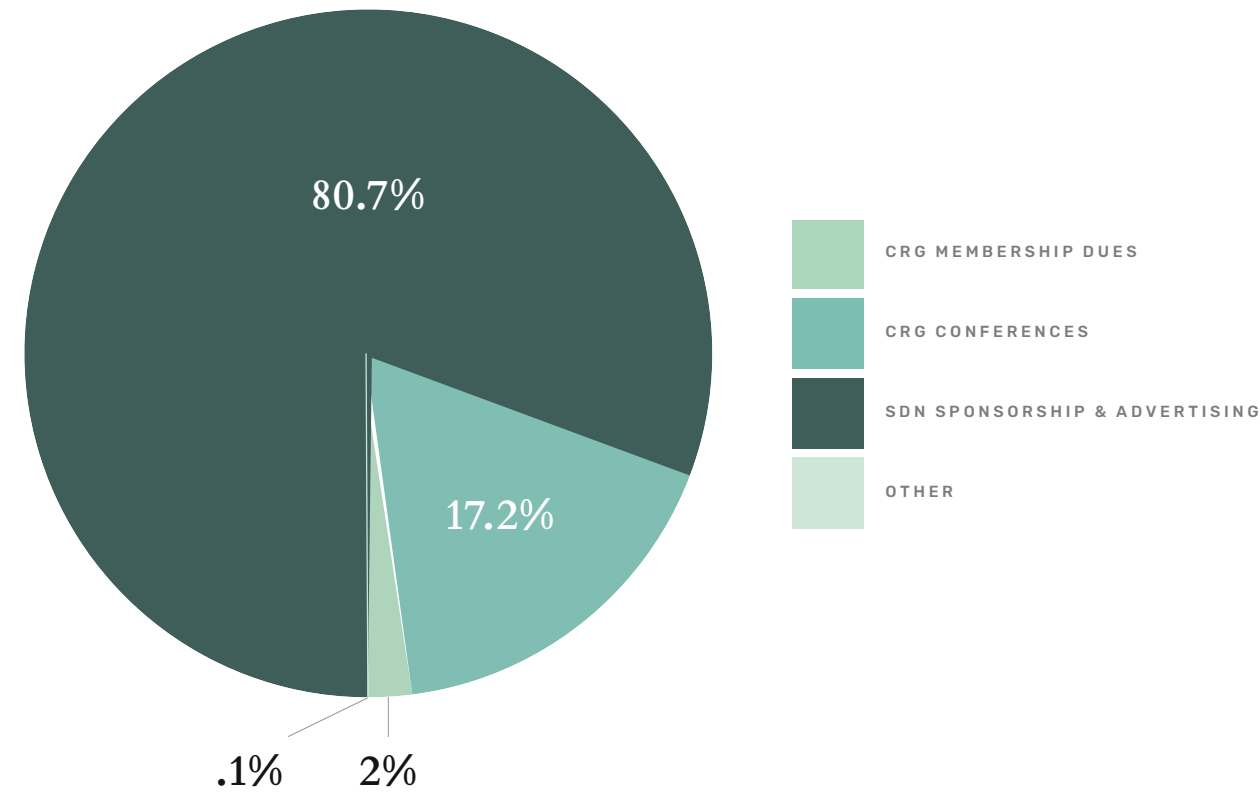

As the parent organization to Student Doctor Network (SDN), CRG achieves its mission by bringing thousands of students and professionals together into one community to develop future healthcare providers. Through online forums, SDN members share information, offer educational guidance, and provide professional support to students and colleagues throughout the United States and Canada. SDN also provides a variety of educational and career development tools and publications free or at cost.
